"The BSP in both these states, including Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, has been quite effective in ensuring that the BSP in the state is an alternative to governance. The BSP state president, Ram Bahadur Yadav, is making a deliberate attempt to prove a point by saying that the BSP does not have a coalition partner," he said.

"There are no such abuses of power, there are no such articles, and there are no such cases of violence," Yadav said. He claimed that the BSP is the only party that has been consistently working for the welfare of the people and that it does not agree with the government's policies.

"The BSP has been working for the welfare of the people and has been fighting for their rights. The government has been neglecting the needs of the people and has been working against their interests," he said. A vaccine only provides the antigenic stimulus for the body to react. How capably the body reacts is considerable beyond the nutritional status and will vary among individuals.

The stimulus needed for a robust immune response may have elements that stimulate high levels of inflammation in the body, consuming the building blocks of immunity which could be better utilized for the adaptive immune response to viruses. These stimuli will effectively limit the high content of acute proinflammatory cytokines.

Studies on immune response to various vaccines have revealed that deficiencies of nutrition modulate the immune response. Dietary proteins deliver the antigen to the T lymphocyte and priming T cells. Probiotics to Zinc and selenium improve immune functions and reduce vaccine efficacy, apart from enhancing nutrient intake. Vaccines, rendered cost-effective, can be supplied to all as global public goods. A monitoring system is in place to report adverse effects. These vaccines, without taking into account the age, health status, and nutritional status of the recipient, will also house in a balance—cost and benefits, safety and efficacy, and efficacy and cost. The decisions made on these factors will determine what fills our plate when we eat.

The day is special for both the country and its citizens, as are all national days the world over. Should the world's largest democracy continue to celebrate its sovereignty and commitment to the letter and spirit of the Constitution by this marked emphasis on its military capability? This is an issue that merits informed and thoughtful public debate. Parliament and the citizens for whom these days bring in many voices on this subject.

The houbara bustard is a large bird native to Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. It is known for its distinctive black and white plumage, with a distinctive crest on its head and a long, slender bill. The houbaras are known for their distinctive long neck, which allows them to reach the plants at the bottom of the desert for food. They are also known for their loud, distinctive calls, which can be heard for miles around.

Why does Pakistan allow Arab royalty to hunt the houbara bustard?

Pakistan, like many other countries in the Middle East, has a long history of hunting, particularly for sport. The houbara bustard is a particularly prized target for hunters, and the Pakistani government has allowed Arab royalty to hunt the bird in exchange for payments to the country. The hunting of the houbara bustard is a sensitive issue in Pakistan, with many people calling for a ban on the practice.

What is the politics playing out?

The houbara bustard controversy is part of a larger political tension between Pakistan and UAE. The UAE, which is a wealthy and powerful country, has a long history of supporting hunting and conservation efforts in Pakistan. This has led to a significant backlash against the UAE, with many Pakistanis calling for a ban on the houbara bustard hunt.

How many houbaras are killed?

It is difficult to say exactly how many houbaras are killed each year, as the hunting season is not extensively tracked. However, it is estimated that tens of thousands of houbaras are killed each year in Pakistan, particularly in the Punjab and Sindh provinces.

What is the police policy stance?

The Pakistani government has taken a tough stance on the houbara bustard hunt, with police and military personnel actively monitoring the hunting season. However, many critics say that the government is not doing enough to stop the hunting of the houbara bustard.

Where is the houbara bustard found?

The houbara bustard is found in Pakistan, particularly in the Punjab and Sindh provinces. It is also found in the Arabian Peninsula and parts of Africa.

Is hunting the houbara bustard legal in Pakistan?

Hunting the houbara bustard is legal in Pakistan, but it is regulated by the government. The Pakistani government has allowed Arab royalty to hunt the bird in exchange for payments to the country.

What is the future of the houbara bustard?

The houbara bustard is considered a vulnerable species by the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN). The species is facing threats from habitat loss, hunting, and climate change. Conservation efforts are ongoing, but the future of the houbara bustard remains uncertain.

First time in 10 mths, imports in positive zone; exports inch up

The Commerce Ministry of India released the December trade data on Monday, with positive imports for the first time in 10 months, reflecting progress in normalizing the economic activities after a year of pandemic-related disruptions.

According to the data, India’s exports dropped 5.4% year-on-year to $33.3 billion in December, the ninth consecutive month of decline. It was the lowest monthly export figure since June 2020. Imports also declined 20.4% for the 11th straight month, to $44.4 billion, but it was the lowest monthly import figure since August 2020.

"We have been seeing positive imports for the past few months due to the ground-up demand pattern and a high base effect by the domestic economy during the year-end festivities and also due to the impending scrapping of the inspectorate office in early January. Also, there is a one-time import pressure due to the upcoming festive season," said Anjum Dhall, chief economist at Yes Bank.

The trade deficit of $11 billion in Decemberwas also the lowest in 22 months, easing the external pressure on the rupee.

"We are still importing around 88% of our needs, but the ratio will come down with the recovery exhibited by our exports and that will give a breather to the rupee," Dhall added.

The trade deficit in December, however, was higher than expected, as imports dropped sharply due to the end of the festive season, while exports fell more due to the global demand slowdown.

In December, the merchandise trade deficit narrowed to $1.5 billion from $2.9 billion in November.

The Commerce Ministry said that the core sectors of manufacturing and mining had grown 1.8% and 14.3% respectively, indicating a recovery in the domestic economy.

"The core sector of manufacturing grew at a high rate of 14.3%, which provided a tailwind to the trade deficit," said Dhall.

BRIEFLY

INDIAN ECONOMY

The Union Finance Ministry on Monday released the economic and financial parameters of the country for the fiscal year 2020-21.

The Ministry said that the real GDP growth rate for the year was -7.7% year-on-year, lower than the forecast of -6.8% by the authorities. The growth rate was hit by the COVID-19 pandemic and its aftereffects.

The government had earlier projected a growth rate of 12% for FY21, but the pandemic caused a significant backlash.

The Ministry also said that the inflation rate for the year was 6.2% year-on-year, higher than the target of 4% set by the government.

The Ministry said that the fiscal deficit for the year was 11.1% of GDP, lower than the target of 12.3%.

The Ministry also said that the foreign exchange reserves at the end of the year were $437.2 billion, higher than the target of $410 billion.

The Ministry said that the government had taken several measures to support the economy during the pandemic, including the introduction of the GST, the National Infrastructure Pipeline, and the National Digital Economy Mission.

The Ministry also said that the government had approved several infrastructure projects, including the Farm Bill and the Coal Bill.

The Ministry said that the government had also taken several measures to support the businesses, including the introduction of the Maha Omnibus Bill and the Farmers Bill.

The Ministry said that the government had also taken several measures to support the farmers, including the introduction of the MSP and the Minimum Support Price.

WHY AUSTRALIAN PLAYERS WERE BETTER PREPARED

Australia’s holdovers weren’t afraid to ask for help and their pre-season preparations began long before this Test series. The Sandy Show, as we know now, happened by chance.

SANDY P
JANUARY 15

In September, fifth Indian spinner Jasprit Bumrah had been ruled out of the Test series against Australia due to a finger injury. The second match of the three-match Test series between India and Australia was scheduled to begin in Brisbane on December 17.

However, Bumrah returned to the playing XI. There was a reason behind his inclusion. He had been cleared to bat and bowl as the former left-arm pacer, Arjun Chaudhary, had smashed the final world record for total runs in a day.

Arjun Chaudhary smashed the final world record for total runs in a day.

Following the injury, India’s squad was expanded to include all their players from the India A squad and the BCCI also announced that there would be no changes to the Test squad.

In the third Test, Bumrah returned to the playing XI for the second time in the series and was expected to bowl on the fourth day.

However, he didn’t bowl on the fourth day and the BCCI announced that he had been ruled out of the Test series due to a finger injury.

The Australian team, on the other hand, had a full-strength squad and were well-prepared for the Test series.
