Meetings with govt today: Farmers draw hard line, reject Centre’s offer to stay laws

Divide within on turning down proposal; police say no to R-Day tractor rally in Delhi

The BCCI felt that the fire that broke out in one of the buildings in Pune on Thursday...
The proposal put forth by the government is a direct threat to the Indian farmer, the one who feeds the nation. The farmers have already made their stand clear by rejecting the offer in favor of the alternative solution proposed by the Government of India. Samyukt Kisan Morcha, the umbrella organization of the farmers, has issued a statement expressing its dissatisfaction with the Centre's offer. The farmers' movement, which has gained momentum in recent months, continues to demand immediate action to address their concerns.

The farmers' movement has been virtual. The central government has yet to notify the rules for the new legislation, which was passed in September 2020. The government has been under pressure to repeal the three farm laws, which have been met with widespread protests across the country. The farmers have been on the streets for over six months, demanding the repeal of the laws and better prices for their produce.

In response to the farmers' demands, the government has offered a compromise. However, the farmers have rejected the offer, stating that it does not address their core concerns. The farmers have made it clear that they will not go back till they complete their stir and achieve their objectives.

The farmers have been patiently waiting for their turn to be heard. They have been protesting for over six months, and their sacrifices are not going in vain. The farmers' movement is a testament to the power of collective action and the importance of listening to the voices of the marginalized.

The government has been quick to respond to the farmers' protests. The Ministry of Agriculture has already moved a bill in the Lok Sabha to amend the 2020 Farm Laws Amendment Bill. The bill aims to provide for the establishment of an independent judicial authority to settle disputes that may arise between farmers and traders.

The government's move is a step in the right direction. However, the farmers' movement is not going to be appeased with small gestures. They have made it clear that they will continue their protest until their demands are met.

The farmers are not going to be intimidated by the government's moves. They have been steadfast in their demand for the repeal of the three farm laws and the restoration of their rights. The farmers' movement is a call for justice and equality, and their voices will not be silenced.

The farmers' movement has been a source of inspiration for people across the country. It has brought together people from all walks of life to support the farmers in their struggle. The farmers' movement has been a reminder of the importance of standing up for what is right, even in the face of adversity.

Sisodia seeks aid extension for contract teachers

Delhi Education Minister Manish Sisodia will write to the Centre seeking an extension of the contract teachers scheme and also seek financial aid, which would be aimed at helping around 1.5 lakh teachers who were offenders in the recent bank fraud case. The scheme was introduced by the Centre in 2018. Sisodia had reported to the Centre in December that 22,000 teachers are due to lose their jobs and the Centre had sought the Centre’s intervention. Sisodia had written to the Centre on February 21.

At least 11,000 government teachers have been laid off so far after tendering their resignations to the Delhi government, according to a letter addressed by the education minister to the Centre. The Centre had introduced the contract teachers scheme so that those who were arrested in the bank fraud case but were involved with the running of schools would be shifted to teaching in the formal sector. The Centre had agreed to extend the scheme to the teachers involved with the school running.

A 66-year-old man in Gurgaon who tested positive for coronavirus has turned out to be the first resident to test positive in the city. The man had returned from London on February 18 and was admitted to Medanta Hospital in Gurugram, where he died on February 21. The positive test result was confirmed by the National Institute of Virology in Pune.

A 67-year-old coronavirus patient who was discharged from a hospital in Delhi was admitted to another hospital in Chandigarh in critical condition for treatment. Chandigarh was one of the first areas to begin reintroducing lockdowns in India amid a surge in COVID-19 cases. The Chandigarh Institute of Medical Sciences had confirmed the patient's death on February 21.

An 81-year-old patient with symptoms of COVID-19 who was being treated in a hospital in Jammu died on February 20 due to complications. The patient was an employee of the Chandigarh Municipal Corporation. The patient had tested positive on February 18 and was admitted to a private hospital in Jammu.

Delhi's Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal said on Thursday that the government had ordered the release of all those who had been arrested in the bank fraud case. Kejriwal said that those who were allowed to go home would be given work and that the government would ensure that they get their salaries.

Delhi will be in a lockdown for two consecutive days starting Friday, the government announced on Thursday evening.

The lockdown will be from 8 pm on Friday to 9 am on Sunday. The government said that the lockdown would be imposed to limit the spread of the coronavirus. The lockdown will come into effect from 8 pm on Friday and continue till 9 am on Sunday.

The lockdown will be imposed in all districts in the National Capital Territory of Delhi. The government said that only essential services such as medical facilities, supply of essential goods, law enforcement, and public safety would be allowed.

FM Nirmala Sitharaman will release her first budget today. The budget is expected to focus on recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic and the ongoing economic slowdown. The government is expected to announce measures to boost investment and consumption.

Farmers plan tableaux as thousands expected to join tractor parade

Thousands of farmers are preparing to participate in the tractor parade on Monday, which is expected to see thousands of tractors, including thousands of tractors carrying thousands of farmers, making their way to New Delhi and passing through states along the way. The tractor parade is a part of the farmers' continuing protest against the three agriculture laws that were passed by the government in September last year.

Farmers have planned to set up a tractor parade in which thousands of farmers will participate. They plan to form a corridor with their tractors as a symbol of their unity and solidarity. The tractors will start from various places across the country and will converge in New Delhi, where they will participate in the tractor parade.

The tractor parade is expected to start on January 26 and continue till February 1. It will pass through states like Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, and Punjab, among others, and will reach New Delhi on February 1.

High rise near DU North campus will need environmental clearance, NGT told

The National Green Tribunal has ordered the Delhi government to obtain environmental clearance for a high-rise building near the Delhi University North campus. The tribunal has directed the government to file an application within four weeks.

The tribunal has directed the government to file an application within four weeks. The application should include a detailed environmental impact assessment and a comprehensive plan for the project. The tribunal will then consider the application and order the government to obtain the required environmental clearance.

The tribunal has taken this decision as a precautionary measure to ensure that the project does not cause any environmental damage. The tribunal has also directed the government to ensure that the project is carried out in compliance with all environmental regulations.

The tribunal has asked the government to submit a detailed report on the project's environmental impact assessment. The report should include information on the project's potential effects on the environment, including air and water quality, soil contamination, and wildlife.

The tribunal has also directed the government to ensure that the project is carried out in compliance with all environmental regulations. The government should also ensure that the project is carried out in a sustainable manner, with minimal impact on the environment.

"Halal or jhatka: SDMC claims move will help other communities"

A Gירת after a proposed pulse policy targeting restaurants and shops to display in the most visible location and manner in Delhi’s Khatik community, Leader of house South MCD, BJP’s Nirupam Chaudhary, chiming along with awareness about what one can consume, the move will also increase employment opportunities for the Shakti community – some members of which work as butchers, said Chaudhary.

"Khatik community will get increased awareness by displaying the pulse method, and it is promised, ‘those who will not accept it, they will be cleansed’," he said.

Chaudhary, however, justified the decision by saying the pulse will include other communities as well. "These other communities have their own practices. People are free to choose as to which脉 they want.It is their choice if they want to accept it or not."

Restaurants to move SDMC: ‘Timing of decision wrong’

But he argued that there would be no confusion if all DJA/SDMC all meat were labelled with appropriate symbols, which is done in most western countries.

"It would be a better idea to have a uniform order for all restaurants," said another SDMC member.

In the South MCD, it was proposed that the pulse should be made available in the places of worship, hospitals, and restrooms. It should also be displayed on the label of the pulse.

The resolution was passed on the day the same was introduced in the North MCD. The decision was taken after a meeting with the Khatik community.

"This kind of order is going to take a long time," said another SDMC member.

The tradition of the dragon dance has been revived, and the dragon, traditionally a symbol of good fortune and prosperity, is now brought to life with vibrant colors and graceful movements, delighting the onlookers. The dragon’s majestic presence and the joyous atmosphere it creates have brought back the spirit of celebration to the city. It is a testament to the resilience and creativity of the people, who have adapted to the changing circumstances without losing their cultural heritage.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE of the Madras High Court, Justice V Chelameswar, has criticized public officials for their handling of the protests at the Indian borders. The court has expressed concern about the way the protests have been handled, stating that the authorities have not taken adequate measures to ensure the safety and security of the protesters. The court has also stressed the importance of transparency and accountability in dealing with such situations, urging the authorities to ensure that the protesters’ rights are respected and their grievances are addressed.

ANALYSE

THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ACT (SEA) 1986. The SEA was replaced by the National Education Policy (NEP) in 2020, which aims to improve the quality of education in India. The NEP has been widely criticized for being overly focused on theory and not providing enough practical experience. The court has emphasized the need for a balance between theory and practice, and has called for the establishment of more vocational and technical institutions to provide students with practical skills.

The court has also highlighted the need for a more decentralized approach to education, with local governments playing a greater role in determining the curriculum and the allocation of resources. The court has called for a greater focus on the needs of marginalized communities and has emphasized the importance of including the voices of students, teachers, and parents in the decision-making process.

Shots in the dark

Dismissing criticism of vaccines in national language doesn’t help in building trust

Biden’s crisis

The challenge before the new US president is to unite America and redemocratise the political system.

The US president-elect, Joe Biden, has a tough task ahead of him. America is facing a crisis of trust and confidence in its government and its institutions. The country is divided along political lines, with a significant portion of the population feeling disconnected from the political process. The president-elect will need to work hard to address these issues and build a more inclusive and cohesive society.

The court has also emphasized the importance of transparency and accountability in government decision-making. It has called for the establishment of more independent public bodies to oversee the implementation of government policies, and has urged the authorities to ensure that decisions are made in the best interests of the public.

ANAND KISHORE

The evidence regarding the ban had not yet been verified by peers and there was no debate in the public. The subject Expert Committee probably had a good discussion, but its details are not in the public domain. Finally, the decision was itself concocted as terms which were not understood by large sections of people, including public health experts. Even though the government issued a clarification, the fact that it was compelled to do so was something — this situation was eminently avoidable.

LAWS ON PAUSE

This is exactly what the Opposition had asked for — and the Government should not have come to the table. The Opposition’s demand was valid, as it had been repeatedly expressed, both in parliament and outside, that the government was failing to take adequate action to address the growing trust deficit.

The government’s response to the debate was weak and feeble. It failed to address the core issues, including the lack of transparency and accountability in decision-making, and the need for a more inclusive and participatory process.

THE SPICE Bierarchy

PUT a national policy for tofu — until it becomes far richer and more appetising than it would have been on its own. It’s a bit like the broth in a soup to which various ingredients are added — thinly-sliced chicken, maybe some bean sprouts, followed by noodles and, perhaps, shrimp balls and fried manchow soup. Probably have more to do with it than just tofu and broth.

The court has also emphasized the need for a more coordinated approach to internationalisation, with the government playing a more active role in promoting and supporting Indian universities’ global outreach efforts. The court has called for a more holistic approach to internationalisation, one that focuses on the long-term benefits for students and society, rather than just the immediate financial gains.

How has the Sensex moved and changed over the years?

Launched on January 2, 1995 (base year 1978-79 = 100), the country’s largest index has seen highs and lows. As on January 21, 2021, it had reached 50,207.86, up 1,053.30 points from 49,154.56 (on January 18, 2021), its lowest in over a year. The Sensex is the benchmark index for the Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE) and is calculated every 15 minutes by BSE Indices and Analytics (BSEI&A).

The 50-share weighted index was launched to provide a reference point for stock prices. As of January 21, the Sensex covered 35 companies from various sectors such as financial services, information technology, consumer goods, and industrials. Analysts believe that the Sensex’s capacity to capture the overall market performance has improved over time. The last major revision to the index was in early 2020.

The chart shows how the Sensex has moved over the years and how it has fared against the government’s fiscal support and economic policies.

1990, when it hit 1,000, the CAGR of the S&P 500 grew at 15.9% over 42 years. From companies and banking stock in the benchmark index; it now has 9 stocks from banking and M&M.

The Sensex, which fell by 36% between July 1991 to April 1992 in July 1991. The rally has been carried by sectors like financials, banks, and real estate, as well as in consumption and investments, which have participated in the rally – the auto industry, which could provide a fillip to the economy, will push up inflation. Some marketmen also feel fundamentals are not sustainable, and market tops are likely to keep global markets at an avowed level for now. Analysts expect a rotation in the corporate sector over a period of 12 months or more, and they want to continue for sometime both on the domestic and global fronts. There are critical fiscal stimulus in the Budget on February 1. The government needs to provide enough stimulus to the economy and markets. Nor the Budget expects an opportunity for the government to showcase an agenda in terms of revenue and growth of the economy going forward.

The central bank has been proactive in terms of improving the global trade environment, rebalancing of trade between countries, and reducing trade imbalances.

Sensex @50,000: what next for investors

The non-stop bull run on the stock market has taken a big leap with the benchmark index crossing 50,000. Several questions loom over the market horizon: Is the rally for real? Why will it happen? Will the bull run continue?

Heroes come home

India's heroes from Australia return to a rousing welcome from families, friends and neighbours.

The Indian team's Mumbai-based cricketers have been granted 'special exemption' from the mandatory 14-day quarantine rule after returning from overseas.

What is at stake is the game the Nation has that we won't see the game. We did contemplate not seeing the game. It was a big discussion with the Government and we felt a lot of support from the people and the sport itself. The Indian team management has been involved in a lot of discussions with the Government and the stakeholders and everyone was on board for the game to be played.

The Indian team arrived in Mumbai on Thursday after a 46-day tour of Australia. The team, which includes Virat Kohli, Jasprit Bumrah, KL Rahul, Rishabh Pant and Hardik Pandya, will now quarantine at the BMRCL's quarantine facility in Mumbai for 10 days before travelling to Chennai to play the first Test against Sri Lanka.

The team's return comes as a major relief for Indian cricket fans, who have been eagerly awaiting the resumption of international cricket after the COVID-19 pandemic put a halt to the sport.

The team will be greeted by a rousing welcome from their families, friends and fans as they arrive in Mumbai. The team will then travel to Chennai to play the first Test against Sri Lanka, which is scheduled to begin on February 5.
