IRULA TRIBAL REMEMBERS the ELEPHANT KILLED in TAMIL NADU

Bellan, a 55-year-old Irula tribal working as an anti-poaching watchman in the Mudumalai Tiger Reserve, hadn't had a deep injury on its back.

The elephant, named Pungu, had been working at the rice fields for two years, but was unable to get the last one. He was in excruciating pain and couldn't be saved.

After the elephant's death, the Irula community members decided to honor its memory. They organized a special ceremony at the Mudumalai Tiger Reserve to remember their beloved friend. The ceremony included speeches, prayers, and a moment of silence.

The Irula community has a deep respect and love for the wildlife in their area, and they always ensure that the animals are treated with care and respect. This event was a testament to that love and respect.

MLA GRANTED BAIL TO APPEAL CONVICTION

AAP's Somnath Bharti gets 2 yrs in jail for damage at AIIMS

NEW DELHI, JANUARY 23

AAP's Somnath Bharti has been granted bail by a court in Delhi to appeal a lower court's conviction sentence of 2 years in jail for damaging property at AIIMS on January 23, 2021. The court awarded Bharti the bail on the condition that he pay a surety of Rs 2,500,000 in the court's custody. The court also sentenced Bharti to three years in jail for the same offense, but the condition for the bail has been posted. The court also ordered Bharti to pay a fine of Rs 3,000 in the case. The bail application was filed by Bharti's lawyer, Mohammad Huq.

A court in Delhi on Thursday granted bail to AAP MLA Somnath Bharti, convicted of damaging public property at AIIMS, in the petition filed by him to challenge the conviction of 2 years in jail. Indian law allows petitioners to argue that the lower court's decision was unfair or unreasonable. The court also ordered Bharti to pay a fine of Rs 3,000 in the case.

Bharti is said to have damaged public property in an altercation with police personnel who were trying to stop him from causing trouble during a protest againstTooltip.

The court said that Bharti's lawyer had filed an appeal in the Delhi High Court against the lower court's decision, which had convicted Bharti of damaging public property at AIIMS, in the petition filed by him to challenge the conviction of 2 years in jail. The court also ordered Bharti to pay a fine of Rs 3,000 in the case.

Improving buyer sentiment is the priority in 2021

On the 1st January 2021, the Uttar Pradesh RERA (Real Estate Regulatory Authority) has constrained developers to meet the deadlines set by the authority to ensure that all the pending compliance issues are resolved in a timely manner. The move is aimed at improving buyer sentiment and increasing the overall demand for properties in the state.

As per the last year’s judgement of Supreme Court, the rate of interest is now capped at 15%. This move has been welcomed by developers and buyers alike, as it reduces the financial burden on both parties. It has also led to good sales volume for some promoters, especially credible promoters. In the last quarter, the sales volume picked up pace and it is believed that it will be even better in 2021.

Chairman, UP RERA, Mr. Sanjay Gupta, has said, “Under the stewardship of Mr. Sanjay Gupta, APL Apollo Tubes Ltd has created a remarkable brand presence, managing to wrest 50 percent of the market share. Its vast distribution network across India includes several sales offices and branch offices in 24 cities to support its business interests at home as well as across a rating of 10 countries across the globe.”

Leveraging innovation and technology

In its over thirty years of operation, APL Apollo Tubes Ltd. has become the largest producer of structural steel tubes in the country. APL Apollo Tubes Ltd. has created a remarkable brand presence, managing to wrest 50 percent of the market share. Its vast distribution network across India includes several sales offices and branch offices in 24 cities to support its business interests at home as well as across a rating of 10 countries across the globe.

Anand Shrivastava, Managing Director of Maharishi Ayurveda, said, “What has been the contribution of UP RERA in uplifting the Real Estate Industry? The answer is clear. UP RERA during the pandemic can be divided into 4 categories. First, UP RERA has drawn a commendable role in bringing discipline among promoters and developers, especially of housing projects, which had been missing in the RERA days that eventually led to stalled projects and led to the handover of flats to buyers. Second, with the advent of UP RERA, buyer confidence has been restored as buyers are aware of their rights.

Third, work on many of the stalled projects in Greater Noida has finally begun, proving a huge relief to buyers. Fourth, many projects that were financially weak, such as the ones where the money of buyers was diverted to complete other projects, had already gone to NCLT and are now beginning to see some development as some other promoter or a promoter would come and complete financially weak projects. I believe that if one continues to work in the way we have done in the past, more and more projects are being cleared and the Real Estate Industry will surely start going in a certain direction that will be beneficial to all its stakeholders.

What are your expectations from the development authorities? As per the last year’s judgement of Supreme Court, the rate of interest is now capped at 15%. Deputy CM inaugurates new hall at NSUT

T HE SUND AY EXPRESS, JANUARY 24, 2021

New Delhi: Inaugurating a new lecture hall at the National Sunyay University of Technolog (NSUT), Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said the biggest tribute to the teacher was to “keep a distance” and work on “quality over quantity” in the field of education.

Sisodia, who was the chief guest at the inauguration of “new lecture hall campus” at NSUT’s Alipur campus, said while the amount of buildings may be lesser, the quality of education had to be higher.

“Today, the body was found in Alipur,” he said.

On Thursday evening, the LG said the republic day planning committee, which was to have been chaired by the LG, would continue to function as a committee after the LG’s resignation on Wednesday.

The LG’s absence is set to complicate the planning process for the parade, which will be held on January 26.

The planning committee, which includes various government departments, will now have to meet without the LG, who would have been the nodal officer for the event.

Meanwhile, the Delhi Police said two unknown persons had been arrested for allegedly defacing the office of Brij Bhushan Chadha, who handled women employees.

The FIR filed by Chadha, who handles the women employees, alleged that a group of people defaced the office of Brij Bhushan Chadha, who handled women employees, and an atmosphere of ‘afra-tafri’ (fear) had been created.

Judicial review a remedy to prevent abuse of spl powers: Justice Surya Kant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 23

The enforcement directorate has shown the way to a judicial remedy to prevent the abuse of special powers by the government.

“Removing the abuse of special powers is a golden opportunity,” CJI Justice N.V. Ramana, who was appearing as a senior counsel in a separate case, said.

“This is a judicial remedy which is the second seniormost judge of the Supreme Court, who was addressing a public event at the historic Jorhat district court in Assam and had summarily distributed two government notices to indigenous communities across Assam.

“Assam, as it is, can be said to have a process of preventing and protecting human rights. The experience of the time when the land was or was not given under different regimes is an example of the concept of emergency. He said, Justice D.Y. Chandrachud and the court has come to the conclusion that the government has been issuing notices to indigenous communities. I am not concerned with who had decided what, I, myself, shall assume, was lucky in the right place, or else was not lucky; a point I am not concerned about that ucted the sound of white words uttered in the presence of a non-government person? Whenever they uttered with the intention of sharing something.

While it was widely expected that the defense forces would retaliate to the Pulwama attack, the word "retaliate" to the Pulwama attack was not used in any of the documents. This caused a stir in the legal fraternity. "Whatever the reason for the attack, it is understandable that the defense forces would retaliate," said Advocate A. S. Khanna, who has been representing the families of the victims of the Pulwama attack.

"However, the use of the word "retaliate" in the official communiqué is not justified," Khanna said. "The word "counterstrike" or "counterattack" would have been more appropriate in this context.

The defense forces have not officially commented on the use of the word "retaliate" in the document. However, sources close to the military have said that the attack was a calculated move to deter any future attacks.

The Pulwama attack was a significant event in the history of India, and the use of the word "retaliate" in the official communiqué has caused a stir in the legal fraternity. It remains to be seen how the government will respond to the criticism.

Death Vigil

The Pulwama attack was an act of terrorism that killed 49 soldiers of the Indian Army. The attack took place on February 14, 2019, near the city of Pulwama in the Jammu and Kashmir region of India.

The defense forces have been widely commended for their quick response and their effective counter-attack. However, the use of the word "retaliate" in the official communiqué has raised questions about the government's approach to security and terrorism.

The government has been criticized for not taking adequate precautions to prevent such attacks. The defense forces have been praised for their quick response and their effective counter-attack.

Larry King, breezy interviewer of the famous and infamous, dies at 87

Larry King, the pioneering interviewer whose nightly shows made celebrities open up and ordinary folks dream of the spotlight, died Saturday at the age of 87. King was hospitalized in Los Angeles last Wednesday after experiencing problems breathing, according to a statement from his family. King was known for his easygoing style of interviewing and for his non-judgmental approach to his subjects. He was the face of CNN’s “Larry King Live” for 25 years and had a radio show that aired for 29 years. Larry King was born on February 10, 1933, in Brooklyn, New York. He began his career in radio, hosting a show in New York City in the 1950s. He later worked as a reporter and anchor for various networks, including ABC, CBS, and NBC. King was known for his ability to get people to talk about themselves and for his skill in making even the most awkward or uncomfortable conversation seem natural. He was diagnosed with throat cancer in 2018, which led to a series of medical issues that affected his ability to conduct interviews. Despite his health problems, King continued to work until his death. He is survived by his wife, Shawn Southwick, and five children.

WHO says Pfizer deal could allow poor countries to access vaccines

The World Health Organization (WHO) on Wednesday said a deal between Pfizer Inc and India’s Serum Institute to allow the Asian country to produce the drugmaker’s coronavirus vaccine could help poor countries access the shots, with millions of doses already produced.

The deal involves an exclusive technology license for Serum Institute of India (SII) to manufacture 200 million doses of the vaccine per year and to sell it to other developing nations. WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said the agreement was a step forward in ensuring equitable access to vaccines.

“Now we see an opportunity to scale-up production and make vaccines available for other countries,” Tedros said in a statement.

The deal also includes an agreement for SII to license production to other manufacturers in India.

The WHO has said the share of vaccine doses going to poorer countries remains too low.

The deal with Pfizer comes after other announcements that vaccines will flow to poorer countries, including Mondelēz International’s deal with the Serum Institute and Argentina’s agreement with Pfizer.

Pune Police gives permission for Jan 30 Elgaar Parishad event

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
PUNE, JANUARY 23

The Pune Police has given permission for the Elgaar Parishad event to be held on January 30, the birth anniversary of Rohith Vemula, a Dalit research scholar who had committed suicide in 2016. The event, which was initially denied permission due to law and order reasons, has been allowed after the Pune Police took into consideration the Covid-19 pandemic.

The event is being organized by the Pune-based activist group, the Rohith Vemula Foundation, in memory of the late scholar who had fought against caste discrimination. The foundation had previously expressed its commitment to holding the event on January 30, the anniversary of Vemula's death.

The Pune Police had initially denied permission for the event due to concerns over law and order. However, after reviewing the situation, the police have now granted permission, noting that the event is being held in the wake of the Covid-19 pandemic.

The event is expected to draw a large number of participants, including Rohith Vemula's family members and supporters. The Pune Police has asked the organizers to ensure that the event is conducted peacefully and in compliance with all Covid-19 safety protocols.

The Pune Police has also urged the public to cooperate with the police in maintaining peace and order during the event.

65% death penalties by trial courts linked to sexual crimes... highest in 5 years

APURVA VISHWAKARMA

NEW DELHI, JANUARY 24, 2021

The Centre has noted a steady increase in the number of death sentences imposed by trial courts in cases of sexual violence against women. While overall death sentences have been increasing, 65% of these have been linked to sexual crimes.

In 2020, 77 death sentences were imposed by trial courts in India, marking a significant increase from the previous year. Of these, 50 involved sexual crimes, highlighting the severity of the issue.

The study aims to understand the factors behind the increase in death sentences for sexual crimes and to explore ways to reduce the number of such sentences. The Centre has already taken steps to address this issue, including amending the Code of Criminal Procedure to increase the minimum sentence for certain sexual offenses.

The study also highlights the need for a comprehensive approach to tackle sexual crimes, including increasing the sentence minimums for sexual violence and providing better support and protection for victims.

A WEEK after it rolled out the world’s biggest vaccination drive against Covid-19, India on Saturday completed administration of the first dose of the vaccine to more than 55 million people, while another 3.3 million beneficiaries have been vaccinated in the second dose.

The Health Ministry on Saturday reported that 51 states and union territories have reported a total of 83.7 million beneficiaries have been vaccinated so far. The states with the highest number of beneficiaries are Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Gujarat, and Telangana.

So far, the vaccination drive has included 13 countries—Bangladesh, Bhutan, Brunei, Malaysia, Mauritius, Mongolia, Morocco, Nepal, New Zealand, and Singapore—using Indian-manufactured vaccines.

The Health Ministry said that in the last 24 hours, one death has been reported from Gujarat, but the first death reported in a week was in Kerala. "The first death confirmed that Cardio-pulmonary disease was the reason for her death but it was not related to vaccination," Agarwal said.

The health department also said that of the 24,238, 1,102 were hospitalised, with 2,234 in the ICU, and 13 died. The death rate is 0.05%.

PM Narendra Modi has directed states and union territories to prepare a comprehensive plan to increase the vaccination drive in the country.

UP: 17-year-old boy charged under anti-conversion law

MAHENDRA BHAI LUCKNOW JANUARY 21

A 17-YEAR-OLD boy of Greater Noida district has been booked by the district police under the anti-conversion law after he allegedly converted his 14-year-old classmate girl to Islam.

The incident took place on Friday when the boy, who is studying in class 9 of a private school in Greater Noida, approached the minor girl and started talking to her with a proposal to convert her to his religion.

The girl’s father, a farmer, told the police that he had known about the incident on Friday night and approached the police after his wife told him that her daughter had been taken by the other boy and the two were alone.

The minor girl’s family had filed a complaint with the police regarding the incident. The police subsequently registered an FIR against the boy under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code (IPC).

The victim’s father said that his daughter had never shown any interest in converting to any religion and was studying in the same school as the accused, who is a classmate.

The incident has caused a stir in the school and the parents are demanding strict action against the accused.

The police are investigating the matter and have arrested the accused.

Better sex ratio at birth in many Beti Bachao districts

By Ramesh Pandey

CHhindori, Oct 31: The local administration has taken several measures to improve the sex ratio at birth in many districts of the state.

According to the latest data from the National Family Health Survey (NFHS-5), the sex ratio at birth improved in several districts in the state.

The survey, conducted in 2019-20, showed that the sex ratio at birth in Beti Bachao districts has improved compared to the previous years.

In the districts of Rewari, Faridabad, and Gurgaon, the sex ratio at birth has improved significantly.

The local administration has taken several steps to improve the sex ratio at birth, including providing incentives to couples for having girls and promoting awareness about the importance of girl child education.

The administration has also taken measures to reduce gender bias and improve the living conditions of girls and women in the state.

The success of these initiatives can be attributed to the sustained efforts of the local administration and the active participation of the community.

Despite these improvements, the sex ratio at birth in some districts remains low, and the local administration continues to work towards achieving the Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) of achieving a balanced sex ratio at birth by 2030.

The administration is continuously monitoring the situation and taking necessary actions to address any issues that may affect the sex ratio at birth.

The data from the NFHS-5 provides a clear picture of the ongoing efforts and the progress made in improving the sex ratio at birth in the state.

This information is crucial for policymakers and stakeholders to develop effective strategies to address the challenges faced in achieving a balanced sex ratio at birth.

The state continues to work towards achieving the SDG target of achieving a balanced sex ratio at birth by 2030, and the ongoing efforts will go a long way in reducing gender bias and promoting gender equality in the state.

Note: The data from NFHS-5 is not available for the current year.
Another cross-border tunnel found in J&K, second in 10 days

ARUN SHARMA
JANUARY 23

The SETV Saturday night detained an 11-year-old Indian girl and arrested her, saying she was a Pakistani student who had scaled the border fence to cross into India. This is the second such incident in 10 days, with the first being reported by the Indian authorities on January 10.

The arrested girl, according to the Border Security Force (BSF) officials, was detained near the border fence in the Chakri sector of Jammu and Kashmir's Pathankot district. The BSF said it had received information from the Pakistan Rangers and the Indian Border Security Force (BSF) had launched a joint search operation.

The girl was eventually arrested and brought back to the Indian side of the border. The BSF said it was investigating the incident to determine the girl's identity and the purpose of her crossing.

Brazil has arrested ten people on suspicion of PEOPLE-TRAFFICKING.

The arrested group, according to the Brazilian authorities, was involved in transporting migrants from Africa and South America to Brazil. The group was said to have made several trips from Venezuela, Colombia, and Ecuador.

Brazilian authorities said they had received several complaints from migrants who claimed they had been trafficked by the group.

The arrested group was said to have been operating in the state of São Paulo, which is one of the most populous states in Brazil.

The Brazilian government has been facing increasing pressure to address the issue of people-trafficking. Reports have indicated that tens of thousands of migrants from South America, Africa, and the Middle East are trafficked to Brazil each year.

Sculpture called the Point of View—21—organized by Rajnish Wattas with the installation of Corbusier's enigmatic sculptures

Rajnish Wattas

CHANDIGARH was born out of the maelstrom of India's Partition and Pakistan's creation. In its design, the city was meant to be a metaphor for the union of two cultures, with Chandigarh's capital city housing the federal government. However, the city has never quite lived up to its promise.

Jeffrey Wall, the curator of the exhibition, suggests that the city's design may be better understood as a symbol of the nation's struggle for identity. "Chandigarh was meant to be a beacon of hope for a new India, but it has never quite fulfilled its promise," he says.

The exhibition features a number of Corbusier's sculptures, including the Point of View—21, which is made up of a series of geometric shapes that resemble the city's skyline. The sculptures are arranged in a way that emphasizes the city's architectural features.

"Corbusier's work is often seen as a symbol of modernity, but it is also a reflection of the cultural and political tensions of the time," Wall says. "Chandigarh is a city that has never quite settled into its skin, and the sculptures in this exhibition are a reflection of that."

The exhibition is on display at the Chandigarh Art Museum until May 31. For more information, visit the museum's website.

The South Hand: have time to set up the clubs.
Srivastav Rankreedy's master code is the big smash. He uses it to kill points; the Indian starlet has used it to get through the lead, and bowed out, though not without taking one good look at the results. He's not the first Indian to make a five-for in Asia, but the Malayan could con- sider these some superlative ones ahead of the second game, where the Indians' batting would be under greater pressure against a determined, impregnable, Indian combination in the second innings.

Srivastav's brothers Chirag's hard work. Satwik would say.

As a result, the Indians will need to look out for a match against the top Japanese pair, Takeshi Otsuka and Kenichi Hayakawa, back in 2005-6. The Indians are no- 0-5 against the top Japanese pair, Takeshi Otsuka and Kenichi Hayakawa, and they are more experienced and changed their mental states over months, instead of just before the matches against the top Japanese pair, Takeshi Otsuka and Kenichi Hayakawa, and they are more experienced and changed their mental states over months, instead of just before the matches.

What will it reveal about fitness levels?

What the Indians will need to look out for is that opponents will learn to counteract the Indian's propensity for high-intensity runs.

Why will coaches move, coaches work?

What is the Yo-Yo test?

The Yo-Yo II test measures the frequency of lactic acid in the blood, which is a key indicator of accumulated fatigue. The Yo-Yo test consists of a series of sprints, with each sprint followed by a recovery period. The frequency of lactic acid in the blood is measured after each sprint, and the test score is based on how many sprints can be completed within the given time limit.

What is the time-trial test?

The time-trial test is a standardized test that measures an athlete's endurance and speed. The test consists of a fixed distance, such as a 2-kilometer run or a 100-meter swim, and the athlete's time is recorded. A higher score indicates better endurance and speed.
