BJP chorus in west UP: Ghazipur mishandled, could move against Centre

The move by the BJP government in Uttar Pradesh to get the farmers out of the protest site in Ghazipur was an over-estimation of its “abilities”. In the next four days, two minor protests were found in the area, which the police had to handle with a show of force.

As the world mourned the death of former Indian president Pranab Mukherjee on August 31, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh appealed to the nation to remain united. Singh said, “Every Indian must feel sad and grieved on this occasion. Let our resolve be stronger to serve the country.”

A year after the Centre announced a Rs 300-crore package to revive the ailing Hitex City in Hyderabad, the implementation of the scheme has been slow. The project was expected to create 250,000 jobs, and generate Rs 2,500 crore in revenue for the state government. However, only a fraction of the promised jobs has been created, and the project is yet to attract significant investment.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday directed the states to ensure that the citizen’s right to information is not denied by the government.”

Gupta's 15-year-old son, who was studying medicine in New Delhi, was booked for allegedly attacking a sub-inspector at the Ghazipur protest site in December last year. The court found the boy guilty of伤害a public servant and sentenced him to three years in jail.

India has registered a slow economic recovery since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. The government has taken several measures to boost the economy, including tax reductions and increased spending on infrastructure projects. However, the pace of recovery has been uneven, with some sectors such as travel and hospitality struggling to recover.

The Centre has been working on a national sports policy to improve the performance of Indian athletes. The policy aims to provide better training facilities and support to athletes, and to increase the number of medals won at international events.

Urban Co-Operative Banking Conclave

Helping co-operative banks grow

‘Loksatta’, the sister publication of The Indian Express, organized a co-operative banking conference to discuss the ways in which co-operative banks can improve the quality of life for the common man through a series of short case studies. The conference was attended by experts from the co-operative banking sector.

Nitin Gadkari

At the conclave, Nitin Gadkari, Union Minister for Agriculture, addressed the gathering and highlighted the importance of co-operative banks in the rural economy.

Gadkari said that co-operative banks play a crucial role in providing financial assistance to the farmers and small-scale industries. He added that the government is committed to empowering co-operative banks through various initiatives.

Gadkari also emphasized the need for co-operative banks to work closely with the government to address the challenges they face.

Pratul Bhargava

Pratul Bhargava, CEO of Abhyudaya Co-operative Bank, shared his views on the future of co-operative banking.

Bhargava said that co-operative banks have a unique advantage in reaching the rural areas and providing financial services to the unbanked population. He suggested that co-operative banks should focus on digital banking and expand their services through the use of technology.

Bhargava also called for a stronger partnership between co-operative banks and the government to address the challenges they face.

Sudhir M. Naik

Sudhir M. Naik, President of Navi Mumbai Urban Cooperative Bank, addressed the gathering and highlighted the challenges faced by co-operative banks.

Naik said that co-operative banks face several challenges, including bad loans, low profitability, and lack of proper governance. He suggested that co-operative banks should focus on improving their governance and adopting best practices.

Naik also called for a stronger partnership between co-operative banks and the government to address the challenges they face.

Nirav Kothari

Nirav Kothari, President of the Mumbai Urban Co-operative Bank, addressed the gathering and highlighted the challenges faced by co-operative banks.

Kothari said that co-operative banks face several challenges, including bad loans, low profitability, and lack of proper governance. He suggested that co-operative banks should focus on improving their governance and adopting best practices.

Kothari also called for a stronger partnership between co-operative banks and the government to address the challenges they face.
Haryana khaps give call to send more protesters to Delhi

SUKRABH SAWCH

The EXCLUDING item between the two communities is that there is a large difference in the nature of ‘conflict’. While the former is more or less a matter of ‘agitation’ at these places in Haryana to protest the farm laws, the latter is a matter of ‘agitation’ against those who have been shot dead during disturbances by the protesters in the borders.

Several khaps in panipat and adjoining areas in Haryana gave the call for sending huge number of people to Delhi on Friday, from Saturday onwards. They were waiting for their leaders to arrive from Delhi to give a call for protest. Some of the khaps that gave the call are those in districts of Panipat, Karnal, Sirsa and districts of Haryana.

The two khaps have been demanding for the last one month that the government should come forward and protect their lives and property. They have been demanding that the government should annul the farm laws.

Accord strategic sector tag to pharmacy, says House panel

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

DEACREASING the need for strong indigenous pharma companies, the government had earlier committed to recommend the pharma industry be declared a “strategic sector.”

The government, however, did not make any such announcement in the 2021-22 budget presented on Friday, much to the disappointment of the food and pharma sector.

The government has been under pressure to upgrade India’s pharmaceuticals industry as part of its “Make in India” initiative. This year, the annual budget meeting in Parliament is expected to be the last such occasion when the farmers’ protests will continue. Farmers have been demanding the repeal of three controversial farm laws introduced by the government last year.

In his budget speech on Friday, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced the setting up of a committee to look into the issue of minimum support prices (MSPs) that were pending for years.

“Since the committee was meeting every year to ensure that there are no delays in the resolution of those pending cases, it has been decided that there shall be a committee to look into that question,” Sitharaman said.

She said the committee would also look into the issue of the sc桩halt of the minimum support price system. The government had announced a moratorium on the issue of minimum support prices in March 2020, which was later extended to March 2021.

Mumbai: No cases of COVID-19 among vårch workers

Mumbai local trains open to all during non-peak hrs from Feb 1

KALNA I SHERIF M

The Chetna India Foundation, a Delhi-based organisation which operates the urban training and rehabilitation centres across the Maharashtra government and the railways, has announced that it has decided to call on the general public to travel by Mumbai local trains during non-peak hours between 12 pm and 6 pm from January 30 onwards. It has also urged railway officials to dedicate a peak hour train (similar to other peak hour trains) exclusively for the rehabilitated workers and staff who are being provided with skills training.

Train services were suspended from December 21, 2020, due to the lockdown. The suburban rail services were later resumed and the number of services increased on February 1, 2021.

The announcement was made by Diwakar Prajapati, founder of Chetna India Foundation, during a meeting with the staff of the railway administration and other stakeholders.

Prajapati said, "The decision has been taken due to the increasing numbers of cases of COVID-19 in the city and the need to maintain social distancing. The railway administration has also taken up the matter with the state authorities and the decision has been appreciated."

The Chetna India Foundation has been providing rehabilitation and training to the rehabilitated workers and staff since 2000 and has trained over 3,000 workers in various skills including welding, painting, plumbing, electrical works, and more.

"We urge the railway administration to consider our proposal and work towards making Mumbai local trains accessible to the rehabilitated workers and staff. This will not only ensure their safety but also help in maintaining social distancing," Prajapati added.

The railway administration has also been providing food to the rehabilitated workers and staff at their centres.

In a statement, the railway administration said, "The railway administration is committed to ensure the safety and well-being of all passengers. The decision to suspend suburban services was taken due to the increasing number of cases of COVID-19 in the city. The railway administration will continue to work towards ensuring a safe and healthy environment for all passengers."
The real desecration

The real darkness on the horizon is the turn Indian democracy is taking, almost as if it is on a road to perdition.

Covid tunnel

More than 1,200 people were the infection numbers grew nearly 1 lakh cases everyday. Inghome to the largest number of infected people in the world.

Kamra to SC

Kamra’s affidavit also spoke in the context of the "rising culture of intolerance in this country, which has also increased". It was published in the Mumbaibased English daily. Kamra has been elevated to the status of a much-needed national leader.

Mittal said, "We have been through a lot of ups and downs, and sometimes it seems like things are not going our way. But we have always been able to overcome these challenges and keep moving forward."

On Monday, the Ministry of Home Affairs had informed the Supreme Court that the government had been successful in containing the spread of Covid-19 in the country. The court had also been told that the government had taken all necessary steps to control the pandemic. The court had also directed the government to ensure that the necessary infrastructure was in place to handle any future surge in cases.

The decline in numbers looks terminal, but the end may be still some distance away, and it is not yet clear how long immunity will last. Tracing India’s journey to the peaks in case counts and deaths, followed by the decline.

A year with Covid, peak behind India

Some European countries—Spain, Italy, France—already achieved their fourth maximum single-digit daily count in November and December. The European Union and countries in Europe for example experienced a peak in the number of cases in the middle of October. The US and Brazil have a long tail, and it might be several months before the numbers come down. That is the reason scientists and health experts believe that returning to normalcy requires careful and sustained efforts.

Yellowstone: The mountains are quiet

The US has seen three waves of infections, the third of which is the largest. The US saw its first wave in March, its second in August, and the third from November onwards. As of January 20, more than 154 lakh (1.54 crores) deaths have been recorded in the country. In the last few days, the daily case numbers have mostly fallen below 150, India’s current case fatality ratio, or the deaths as a proportion of total infections, stands at 1.46, well below what it was in 2020. For the first time since November 20, there have been no deaths in more than one-third of the states.

India’s active cases have fallen by more than four months now. Scientists are not in a position to say that the virus has disappeared, but a few signs of normalcy, such as the decline in case numbers, give them hope that the country can soon “live with Covid”.

When the results of Delhi had been crushed, the British army occupied the Red Fort, but the city continued to bear the brunt of the punishment. The Sartaj Khana, the health situation in the Dina-Mara in Khura, where the Imperial General Hospital stood, was poor. The Imperial General Hospital had been moved to the city of Faridabad, where many of its patients were still being treated. In the meantime, the Imperial General Hospital had been converted into a military hospital.

When should we start vaccinating?

It could be a few months before the vaccine is available for oral administration, but we have always been assured of the supply. The government has already ordered vaccines from various countries, and we have also received a large number of doses from the Serum Institute of India.

The ODI single-shot vaccine found 66% effective in phase 3 clinical trials

J&J’s single-shot vaccine found 66% effective in phase 3 clinical trials

The vaccine was developed by Janssen, one of Johnson & Johnson’s companies, and involves a single-shot delivery of an adenovirus vector. The adenovirus vector carries a gene that encodes for the S protein of the SARS-CoV-2 virus. The vaccine is administered intramuscularly, and it is expected to be a one-dose vaccine.

The vaccine was tested in a phase 3 clinical trial involving more than 20,000 participants in the US, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, and the United Kingdom. The trial was conducted among adults aged 18 and older, and the vaccine was effective against the original strain of SARS-CoV-2.

The vaccine is expected to be available in the US in the near future, and it is expected to be widely distributed in the coming months. The vaccine is also expected to be available in other countries, including India, where it is already being manufactured.

The vaccine is expected to be administered to healthcare workers and high-risk individuals in the coming months. The vaccine is also expected to be available to the general public in the coming months, and it is expected to be widely distributed in the coming months.

WHO EXPELS POLISH PHYSICIAN: After a ceremony warning a WHO team of researchers on site in Wuhan, China. The team visited the hospital where China says the virus originated, the experts were assured that the country was ready to cooperate. They had met with Chinese officials earlier that day in person meetings at the hospital, which WHO has said was set up by Xi Jinping, the president of China.

J&J aims to produce 1 billion doses of the vaccine by the end of the year, and the company says it will be able to provide “an enormous” number of doses to the US government in the coming weeks. The vaccine has already been approved by the European Medicines Agency, the World Health Organization, and other regulatory bodies around the world.

Vaccines are crucial in the fight against COVID-19, which has already killed more than 4 million people worldwide. The vaccine has been shown to be effective in preventing severe illness and hospitalization, and it is hoped that widespread vaccination will help to bring an end to the pandemic.

In a statement, the WHO said the approval of the J&J vaccine is "a major milestone in the global response to the COVID-19 pandemic." The agency said the vaccine will be "a important tool" in the fight against the virus.

The WHO has been praised for its efforts to coordinate the global vaccine rollout, and the approval of the J&J vaccine is seen as a key step in achieving equitable access.

Cicely Tyson, actress who shattered stereotypes, dies at 96

Cicely Tyson, the trailblazer who broke barriers for Black women in Hollywood and shattered stereotypes with her groundbreaking performances, has died. She was 96.

Tyson, whose career spanned more than 60 years, became one of the most respected and beloved actresses of her generation. She was known for her powerful performances in films and television, and her work was celebrated with numerous awards, including three Emmys, two Golden Globes, and two Screen Actors Guild Awards.

Tyson was born in New York City on January 18, 1924, to a poor African-American family. She was the first African-American woman to win an Emmy for best actress in a leading role, for her performance in the 1974 television miniseries "Sounder." She also starred in the 1972 film "Sounder," which was based on the novel by William Stillman Colenso.

Tyson was the first African-American woman to be nominated for an Oscar for best actress, for her role in the 1977 film "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman." She was also nominated for an Oscar for her role in the 1990 film "How to Make an American Quilt."

Tyson was a role model for many young people, and her work helped pave the way for future generations of African-American women in Hollywood.

She was married twice, to football player Jim Brown and to actor Ben Maye. She had three children, including actor Robert Brown.

Tyson was known for her commitment to social justice and her activism. She was a vocal supporter of the civil rights movement and was a member of the NAACP.

She is survived by her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Her legacy will live on through her work and the impact she made on the lives of so many people.

Nauman, Yasir spin Pakistan to seven-wicket win over South Africa

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW DELHI, JANUARY 30

After the opening bowlers were run out, Pakistan's second wicket of the innings fell in the fourth over when spinner Nauman Ali dismissed South Africa's captain Dean Elgar to leave the tourists reeling at 22/3.

Nauman, who had taken the wicket of Elgar, then removed Keshav Maharaj for 12 to leave the tourists 34/3.

Mohammed Rizwan then hit an unbeaten 59 to take Pakistan to 86/3 at the halfway mark before India's seam bowlers came into their own.

Jasprit Bumrah, who had taken the wicket of Rabada, then removed debutant Anrich Nortje for 15 to leave South Africa 56/4.

The tourists were 99/6 when Babar Azam was run out for 105 but Pakistan's lead was cut to 78 at the close.

Their second innings started poorly when Usman Khan Nabi fell for just four but Pakistan were cruising at 130/5 when Mohammad Rizwan was dismissed for 58.

Rizwan had shared a 107-run partnership with Riaz for the sixth wicket.

Pakistan's leading wicket-taker in the series, Yasir Shah, then removed debutant JeanPaul Duminy for 13 to leave the tourists 143/6.

The tourists were all out for 213 as they lost their last six wickets for 111 runs.

Pakistan's total of 392 for six on Tuesday was the highest ever score by an Asian team against South Africa in Test cricket.
