SWEET SUCCESS FOR SUNDARIANMUSLIMS

After a short investigation for all 10 business days, he was arrested in December 9 from Rohtak. As per rules, the case is sent back to the court, and the court would decide on his future. Under the state’s law, the court wouldn’t be able to make a decision on this matter.

The false murder chargesheet, however, had said he was killed due to an argument with his neighbors. The case was later shifted to the state’s high court, but no decision has been made yet.

On the other hand, the APSC has refused to comment on the matter, saying it is a police investigation and not within the scope of their jurisdiction.

In the meantime, the victim’s family has been mourning the loss of their loved one, and they are seeking justice for their son.

The SMRCE, the state-run agency in this area, has also been investigating the matter and will decide on the next course of action in the near future.

Meanwhile, the local community has been protesting against the APSC, demanding justice for the victim and calling for an end to such incidents.

The APSC has also been criticized for its handling of the case, and there are calls for a thorough investigation to be conducted to ensure justice is served.

The local community is demanding better policing and improved law enforcement in the area to prevent such incidents in the future.

Meanwhile, the state government has also been putting pressure on the APSC to take action and ensure justice is served.

The blueprint

As on August 12, the forum of the meeting of the National Expert Group of Vaccine Administration and Delivery (NEGVAD), led by Dr V.K. Paul, member NITI Aayog, and Union Health Secretary, Pradeep Kumar Singh, decided that on the agenda should be augmenting the cold chain capacity and ensuring that all vaccine-related activities are handled seamlessly. They also wanted to enhance the capacity of the digital operations platform by creating a Vaccine Management Information System (VMIS). Created to collate and share all relevant data related to a vaccine, VMIS allows users to access, track and monitor all vaccine systems. This system, driven by the need to ensure that the vaccine is kept in cold storage at all times, was meant to help states break even on the cold chain and to ensure that cold chain camps are set up. The system was designed to receive and allocate vaccines, track delivery and monitor storage and distribution, thus ensuring that vaccines are made available to beneficiaries at the right time and place. The NEGVAD forum also wanted to ensure that cold chain and vaccine procurement is centralised and centrally controlled. A separate forum, called the National Interoperability Coordinator, was also created to ensure that vaccine-related activities are handled seamlessly. The forum also decided to conduct a survey to assess the cold chain capacities of the states and the territories, and to accelerate the cold chain network for the Covid-19 vaccine.

A crucial unknown

A crucial unknown is the possibility of adverse events associated with the Covid-19 vaccine. While the AEPI (Adverse Event Following Immunisation Programme) is in place in the country, there is no specific protocol for an AEPI for the Covid-19 vaccine. The AEPI is currently being handled by the state health departments, which have been asked to set up cold chains and cold chain camps for the Covid-19 vaccine. American Airlines--a sight of relief that MS Donald Trump would be leaving us, and the country, for good was not enough to wash away the sour fact that 713,764 Americans—more than 1,000 people every day—died of COVID in 2020. For many, only 13,420 less than the number that voted for President-elect Joe Biden. Across America--it is an oddly reassuring sight to see the issue of "right to equality" being taken so seriously. It is heartening to see that the debate on equality was not just on the face of it. The debate was substantive. It was not as if only an estimated 100,000 people were lost. Instead, it was as if millions of lives were given and millions of lives were lost and millions of lives were received and millions of lives were lost.

Equally Ensured--

At the dawn of independent India, the vision for equality in our laws was given. This vision was often overlooked, and led, in the absence of legal and constitutional guarantees, to inequality. In August, 2020, the Prime Minister promised to establish an independent commission to look into the issue of equality and to take steps to ensure equality. In the midst of the pandemic, this must be made a reality.

Ever since the announcement of the Tokyo Olympics was made, the Indian hockey team has been working hard to prepare for the event. With the players having been isolated in quarantine for months, this is their last chance to showcase their skills on the world stage.

GOODS AND SERVICES TAX SHORTFALL

Jharkhand joins in, all states now onboard Centre’s borrowing plan

New Delhi: Jharkhand on Saturday became the 17th state to put its seal on the Centre’s borrowing plan, saving the government from facing a shortfall in the goods and services tax (GST) collection for the month of October.

The state’s move comes after Maharashtra, which was the 16th state to sign on to the initiative, had late last week assured the Centre that it will contribute Rs 1,250 crore to meet the shortfall in GST revenue for the month.

Of the 21 states, 16 are already onboard while the remaining five — Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh, Assam, Jharkhand and Chandigarh — have signed on in the last two weeks.

Industry experts have estimated that the shortfall in October’s GST revenue could be over Rs 1,200 crore.

“Jharkhand has also joined in now and the Centre will soon quote an amount for the state’s contribution. The total shortfall in GST collection for the month is likely to be somewhere between Rs 1,000-1,200 crore,” a finance ministry official said. The Centre is yet to finalise the contribution amount from the other states.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced the Centre’s borrowing plan for October on September 28, a day after the GST Council approved a mechanism to fill the gap in revenue from the tax. Jharkhand already accepting the borrowing proposal, the Finance Ministry said on Saturday, “will help raise funds required to meet the shortfall from the current month.”

The state is the first one to assent to the borrowing plan after the onset of the third wave. The Centre is yet to finalise the borrowing amount, which is likely to be over Rs 4,000 crore.

The borrowing plan allows states to borrow from a tranche of Rs 1.76 trillion put aside for the purpose in the Centre’s budget estimates for 2021-22.

The Centre will issue a tranche of Rs 1,69,000 crore at a special interest rate of 4% in October to fill the GST-related revenue gap.

Finance Ministry spokesperson Anurag Agarwal said the Centre is yet to make an official statement on the matter.

HAYABUSA2 is a mission to explore the asteroid Ryugu, a small rocky body in the main asteroid belt. The mission is part of the Japanese Solar System Exploration Program, which aims to study the origin and evolution of the Solar System. The spacecraft was launched in 2014 and is expected to return samples from Ryugu to Earth in 2021. The samples will provide valuable information about the early history of the Solar System and the formation of the Earth.

The Hayabusa2 mission was launched on February 20, 2014, from the Tanegashima Space Center in Japan. The spacecraft is carrying a suite of scientific instruments, including a remote sensing system, an X-ray spectrometer, and a mass spectrometer. The mission will study the surface composition of Ryugu and its potential for storing organic compounds.

The spacecraft will arrive at Ryugu in late 2018 and will conduct several investigations before returning samples to Earth in 2021. The samples will be returned to Earth in a special container designed to protect them from contamination and ensure their safe return. The samples will be studied by scientists around the world to understand the composition and history of Ryugu, and to gain insights into the early history of the Solar System.
It was a campaign of hate against their work that brought Tamil writer Perumal Murugan and Malayalam writer S Hareesh to mainstream attention. Now, with accolades and international recognition, they hope for a more nuanced reading of their works.

Perumal Murugan was published in English as

The Second Coming (2019, HarperCollins) by Jayasree Seth, a well-known Tamil-to-English translator, and its translation

Troubled Blood (2019) by Meesha Setia, was terrific reimagining of Indian literature. The novel was set in the first half of the 20th century in India, and it explored themes of identity, race, and the quest for freedom. Meesha Setia's translation was widely praised for its ability to capture the essence of the original work.

Perumal Murugan and S Hareesh are also the beneficiaries of growing interest in Tamil and Malayalam literature. Both writers have been able to reach a wider audience with translations of their works, and they have received critical acclaim both at home and abroad.

The Indian Express has interviewed both writers in recent years, and they have spoken about their experiences of facing censorship and the importance of free speech. The interviews have highlighted the ongoing struggle for freedom of expression in India, and the challenges faced by writers who work in languages that are not dominant in the country.

In 2021, The Indian Express ran articles on the freedom of expression in India, featuring interviews with writers like Jhumpa Lahiri, Arundhati Roy, and Tejaswini Apte. The articles highlighted the importance of free speech and the need for a more nuanced understanding of the challenges faced by writers in India.

The Indian Express has also covered the case of Perumal Murugan, who faced criticism and controversy for his writing. The newspaper has reported on the support he received from fellow writers and the support of the Tamil Nadu Progressive Writers and Artists Association.

The Indian Express has published several articles highlighting the importance of free speech in India, and the need to support writers who work in languages that are not dominant in the country. The newspaper has also covered the case of Jhumpa Lahiri, who faced criticism for her decision to write in Italian.

J K Rowling's latest novel as Robert Galbraith is a remarkable exercise in historical fiction. The story revolves around the life of Vimala, a character who is a part of the Hindu nationalist movement in India in the 1950s.

The book, titled "The Inheritance of Vimala," is the fourth in Galbraith's Cormoran Strike series. The main character, Vimala, is a woman who is trapped in a loveless marriage and is forced to make difficult choices in order to survive.

Galbraith has created a rich and detailed world in which Vimala lives, and her character is complex and well-developed. The author has done a great job of bringing the past to life in a way that is both engaging and thought-provoking.

One of the most compelling aspects of the book is the way in which Galbraith uses the setting of the 1950s India to explore themes of power, privilege, and identity. The novel is a testament to the power of literature to shed light on the past and to inspire reflection on the present.

Overall, "The Inheritance of Vimala" is a well-crafted and engaging novel that is sure to appeal to fans of historical fiction as well as readers who are interested in the broader themes of power and identity.

SA-England ODI series to go ahead

The three-day international series between South Africa and England will start on Friday after both teams’ squads underwent COVID-19 testing and results were cleared. The series does not carry any ICC points and will decide the winner of the Four-Day Series Challenge. England were to play two Tests against New Zealand instead of the scheduled ODI series. The series was postponed on February 26 after South Africa’s cricket team was forced into isolation following a COVID-19 positive test. South Africa is not a COVID-19 hotspot and the protocols on both sides were in place. The series will be played at Newlands, Kingsmead and Newlands, respectively. The match at Newlands will be played on Friday, March 5, the Kingsmead match on March 7, and the Newlands match on March 10. The matches will start at 10 am IST, and the time zone change will not affect the on-field action. As far as the COVID-19 situation is concerned, both the teams have been tested and are clear. The coaches and management staff of the teams have also undergone COVID-19 testing. The teams will not be allowed to play any matches in the week before the series to ensure they are ready for the series. England coach Chris Silverwood said, “We are excited to play South Africa,” Silverwood said in a statement. “Our squad has been working hard over the last few months and everyone is looking forward to this series.” England head coach Chris Silverwood kept his team away from training activities in the week before the series. The series will be England’s first away tour since the COVID-19 crisis started. England have played three matches so far in South Africa this year, including two Tests and one ODI. The Tests were played in Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, and Durban. The ODI was played in Port Elizabeth. The South African team has played one Test and one ODI in England this year, both played in Cape Town in January. The Test was washed out and the ODI was won by South Africa. South Africa will be missing a few players due to injury, including captain Dean Elgar and wicketkeeper-rules, who were replaced by Keshav Maharaj and Dane Piedt, respectively. South Africa have been playing for the last two years without a captain and have not won a Test in that period. South Africa have also lost four of their last five ODIs, with a win against Nepal in June being their only victory in that period. England have lost only one of their last five ODIs, against Pakistan in January. South Africa have played five ODIs against England this year, with a win, a loss, and three draws.
