Cabinet clears Akash missile export, forms panel for faster nod

Budget: The Cabinet Wednesday cleared the export of the Akash surface-to-air missiles to five countries and constituted a committee headed by the Defence Minister to approve export of defence platforms.

The expert committee will also examine the performance of the Akash, which is a different version than the one currently produced and sold in India.

Following the Cabinet's induction to the Vande Bharat Mission, the Defence Ministry approved the export of the Akash missile, which was showcased at the DefExpo-2020 exhibition, to five countries.

According to the official statement, Akash was sent to five countries.

The Cabinet also formed a panel to expedite the export of defence platforms.

The panel will be headed by the Defence Minister and will include representatives from the Defence Ministry, the Defence Research and Development Organisation, and the Department of Defence Production.

DEFENCE MINISTER Rajnath Singh Wednesday defended the actions of Sikh brothers and charged his opponents for opposing India’s military achievements.

The Cabinet approval will facilitate the faster production of the Akash missile, which is currently being manufactured in India.

The Akash missile is a surface-to-air missile system that was developed and manufactured in India and is currently being exported to several countries.

The export version of the Akash missile is approved under the Vande Bharat Mission, which aims to fast-track the export of defence platforms.

Section 143(1) of the act requires employers to improve up to five per cent of their production for works, for acts which contribute to restoration of the farmers’ movement or cause no harm to them. The law had led to the additional production of 1.5 lakh tonnes of food grains, leading to a successful response in the market. Following the announcement of the law, a number of small and medium-sized enterprises had started producing food grains, leading to a successful response in the market.

The government had also announced a package of Rs 1,000 crore for the farmers, which included a compensation scheme for farmers affected by the lockdown. However, the farmers had rejected the package as insufficient and had continued their protest. The farmers had continued their protest for nearly two months, demanding the rollback of the farm laws and the reinstatement of the minimum support price (MSP) system.

The farmers had also called for an all-India bandh on December 8, demanding the rollback of the farm laws. The farmers had blocked roads, railway tracks, and trains across the country, causing widespread disruption. The government had ordered the use of force to disperse the farmers, leading to widespread violence and loss of life.

Remove Dhankhar as Governor, Tripathi

Say as Governor he transgressed constitutional limits by "openly supporting a political party, political neutrality.

Dhankhar is a member of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and has repeatedly criticized the state government, especially the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), in his public statements.

Dhankhar was appointed as the Governor of West Bengal by the President of India in 2017, succeeding Keshari Nath Tripathi, who was also a member of the BJP. Dhankhar's appointment was widely criticized by opposition leaders in West Bengal, who accused him of being biased and favoring the BJP.

In recent weeks, Dhankhar has come under increased scrutiny for his alleged involvement in political activities, leading to calls for his removal from his position as Governor. Opposition leaders have accused Dhankhar of "openly supporting a political party," a violation of the Governor's role in a constitutional democracy.

The opposition in West Bengal has been pushing for the removal of Dhankhar as Governor, citing concerns over his biased conduct and alleged interference in the functioning of the state government.

In this context, the opposition has called for a "trial by fire" to prove his honesty and integrity, and has demanded that Dhankhar be removed from his position.

The opposition parties have advised Dhankhar to capitulate and resign from his position, as they believe his continued tenure as Governor is detrimental to the functioning of the state government and its constitutional obligations.

If Dhankhar is removed as Governor, it would be a significant development in the political landscape of West Bengal, as it would set a precedent for the removal of a Governor who is suspected of violating constitutional norms.

However, the matter is currently pending before the Supreme Court, which has reserved its judgment on the issue.

The opposition's calls for Dhankhar's removal are likely to intensify in the coming weeks, as the issue gains further traction in the political arena.

In conclusion, the removal of Dhankhar as Governor would be a crucial step in ensuring the impartiality and neutrality of the Governor's role in West Bengal, and would set a strong precedent for the functioning of the state government and its constitutional obligations.

BJP begins campaign for one nation, one election this time with local bodies

While the Election Commission has ruled against holding a “One Nation, One Election” campaign, BJP president J.P. Nadda has decided to hold a similar kind of campaign in the states of Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Karnataka and Telangana. Nadda, in a statement released on Friday, said his party had decided to hold a campaign on this issue in these states, where it has a strong presence.

The BJP has already started its campaign in Jharkhand, where the Assembly elections are due in December. In Telangana, the Assembly elections are scheduled for January 2022. In Karnataka, the Assembly elections are due in May 2022. In Madhya Pradesh, the Assembly elections are scheduled for February 2023.

The BJP has been critical of the Congress-led government at the Centre for not holding a “one nation, one election” campaign. The party has been demanding that all elections in the country be held on the same day to avoid confusion and to ensure that the voters get a clear choice.

According to Alpert, as a Senate-confirmed surgeon general, she would be taking over a position in which incoming President Joe Biden named a woman, Dr. Rochelle Walensky, to lead the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Walensky's appointment sends a clear message that the US is truly committed to countering the pandemic with an expert and skilled leader at the top of the health department. Walensky has been praised for her leadership during the pandemic and her commitment to scientific integrity. She has also been recognized for her ability to navigate complex political landscapes and her dedication to improving public health. With Walensky's appointment, the US is well-positioned to continue its fight against the pandemic and ensure that it is prepared for any future health crises.

Rajasthan: India for peace, but those who provoke won't be spared

By Rajantha Singh

New Delhi: India is not only at peace with China but with everyone. "For a very long time now, we have been looking at China and China has responded in the same way," Narendra Modi, Prime Minister of India said today.

It was at a press conference after the conclusion of the 9th Round of India-China BorderTalks that the Prime Minister delivered the above comment. "India wants peace and stability on its borders, and this is something that India has always been committed to," said the Prime Minister.

Talking about the Indian Army, the Prime Minister said, "Our young soldiers are committed to safeguarding the boundaries of India by using force when necessary, but at the same time, we are committed to maintaining peace and stability on our borders.

"India's approach is to avoid conflict and war, but if faced with any provocation, we will respond firmly," said Mr. Modi.

He also mentioned the importance of mutual respect and trust between the two countries.

"We believe in the principle of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam', which means the world is one family. We respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all countries, and we are committed to maintaining peace and stability on our borders," the Prime Minister said.

For 5 days running, daily deaths below 300, down from peak of 1,000-plus

For 5 days, the number of COVID-related deaths in the country hovered below 300, the lowest level since March 19. The number was down from a peak of 1,000-plus deaths during the height of the second wave of infections in April-May.

India’s COVID-19 death toll dropped to 262,272 on Thursday, the lowest level since March 19, according to official government data.

On Thursday, the number of deaths had fallen dramatically to 112, the lowest since May 2. The country’s daily deaths have been in the teens for the last three days.

India had reported 3,142 deaths on Wednesday, its lowest since March 19, when the death toll was 380.

The government had earlier said that the death toll had been affected by a delay in data collection.

India’s daily deaths significantly dropped after April, the peak of the second wave, and the trend has continued even in recent days.

The government has said that the daily deaths have been falling because of a decline in the number of new infections, indicating a possible easing of the pandemic's impact.

On Thursday, the number of active cases in the country was 262,272, a significant drop from the peak of 10.4 million in early September.

The government has also said that the vaccination drive has been instrumental in reducing the number of deaths.

India’s vaccination program has been praised for its success in reaching a significant portion of the population with at least one dose of COVID-19 vaccine.

Despite the drop in daily deaths, India remains a major contributor to the global COVID-19 death toll, and the country is still grappling with the ongoing pandemic.

When Enforcement Directorate attaches the property of an accused

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) is on a mission to recover money laundering and terror financing proceeds. In recent years, the ED has been at the forefront of investigating cases involving illegal financial transactions.

The ED has attached the properties of several high-profile individuals and entities involved in money laundering and terrorism financing. These include politicians, businessmen, and alleged criminals.

One such case involves a politician named Shuaib Masoodi, who has been accused of money laundering and terror financing. The ED has attached several properties worth crores in connection with this case.

The ED has also attached properties worth crores in the case of another politician, Rajiv Gandhi, who was found to be involved in money laundering and terror financing.

The ED has a mandate to attach properties worth up to 2 crores in connection with an investigation. If the properties are worth more than 2 crores, the ED can seek a court order to attach the properties.

The ED has been successful in recovering significant amounts of money from the properties attached.

BRITISH PM Theresa May on Wednesday voted resoundingly on Wednesday to approve a trade deal with the European Union.

The Brexiteers are blunting with the millstones of the agreement sealed between the UK and EU on December 24, according to the Labour Party.

The Brexit trade agreement had a round of support from the UK government and the European Union, but it has faced criticism from some opposition parties.

Rahane's Test game as he returned to the India team after an injury

When India were at one time 1-0 down in the series, they took a depleted side to face Australia in the second Test at Perth. The result was an 18-run win for India. The game ended in a draw, with the series tied 1-1. India's bowlers were impressive, with Jasprit Bumrah taking 5-14 and Mohammed Shami 4-62. Australia's batsmen struggled against the India attack.

Ashwin finds turn, turn around

India's primary spinner R Ashwin bowled Ashwin three wickets on the fourth day of the second Test against Australia at the Perth Oval. He dominated the match, taking 10 wickets in the match. He also helped India to a 18-run win in the second Test against Australia.

World not at their feet

Teenage dreams of playing in a youth World Cup in front of home crowds lie in tatters for 27 youngsters after cancellation of the FIFA U-17 Women’s tournament.

Though India has hosted FIFA Under-17 World Cups, it is yet to have seen India’s footballers play in front of a full stadium. For many, playing on home turf was the closest they could come to being a part of any World Cup. But it’s not just the World Cup that they have had to sacrifice. India’s footballers have had to deal with several other challenges such as having to train for long hours, lacking proper facilities, and having to sacrifice their schooling or sports career.

The cancellation of the FIFA U-17 World Cup means that the dreams of several young footballers have been dashed. The Indian women’s football team had entered the tournament as one of the top teams in Asia and was expecting to perform well. However, the cancellation of the tournament has left the players disappointed.

According to FIFA, the decision to cancel the tournament was taken due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The pandemic has affected the footballing world, leading to the cancellation of several tournaments, including the FIFA Under-17 World Cup.

The Indian women’s football team had qualified for the tournament after finishing second in the Asia qualifiers last year and getting to the 2021 FIFA World Cup in Qatar. They were excited to see how they could perform in a world tournament.

The cancellation of the tournament has left the players disappointed, but they are determined to continue their journey. They are hoping that the tournament will be rescheduled or that they will get a chance to participate in another tournament.

The Indian women’s football team is currently preparing for the 2022 FIFA Women’s World Cup, which is scheduled to be held in Australia and New Zealand. The team is hoping to qualify for the tournament and make it to the final.

Despite the challenges, the Indian women’s football team is determined to continue their journey and make India proud. They are looking forward to the tournament and are hoping that they will get a chance to perform on the world stage.
