I am not concerned with who has the best weapon, my person, I shall assume, was luckily in the right place when I stumbled upon the grapevine. I was concerned about who uttered those words in the presence of a non-government person? We have all been garnished with the intention of shunning civil conflicts and wars.

While it was expected that the defense forces would retaliate against the Pulwama attack, no body could have imagined the consequences. I used to describe the unintended evaluation that a missal group of people would be the outputs.

WHO says Pfizer deal could allow poor countries to start vaccinating in February

EMMA FARIDGE AND MATTHEW STARK

The World Health Organization said on Friday that it had agreed to purchase 40 million doses of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine and said it should be able to start delivering vaccines to poor countries much earlier than expected.

WHO and the G7, the group of seven richest countries, agreed in December to share vaccines with poor countries. But it had not been clear when vaccines would actually be delivered.

"It was a need to see us as a partner of countries," said WHO’s chief, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, in a virtual meeting on Thursday. He said the deal was expected to begin delivering vaccines to the world’s poorer countries by the end of February. WHO also said it would buy "as many doses as possible" from the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine.

As part of the deal, WHO will receive 40 million doses of the vaccine, which will be delivered in two installments -- 10 million doses in February and another 30 million in June.

The deal is expected to be signed in the coming weeks.

It is at this moment that does not belong to the world. It is a moment of stillness, a moment when the world around us is quiet and calm. We are free to be ourselves, to express ourselves, to truly live.

Our Constitution was adopted on January 26, 1950, and the first Republic Day was observed on January 26, 1953. This day was chosen by our first president, Pratibha Patil, to commemorate the birth of our republic. It is a day to celebrate the freedom and independence of our country.

President Pratibha Patil's address sets out her vision for the future of our country. She speaks of the need to focus on education, infrastructure, and the environment, and to build a society that is inclusive and sustainable.

The Day of the Citizen
The annual presidential address on the eve of Republic Day is an occasion for introspection and affirmation of our constitutional values. President Pratibha Patil's address sets out her vision for the future of our country. She speaks of the need to focus on education, infrastructure, and the environment, and to build a society that is inclusive and sustainable.

In many ways, our democracy is a product of our history. Our country has been through many challenges and trials, but we have emerged stronger and more united.

As we approach the 73rd Republic Day, we must once again reflect on the values that have shaped our nation. We must remember that our democracy is not just a system of government, but a way of life. It is a commitment to the principles of liberty, equality, and justice.

A novel by

Shubhra Gupta

TWO people falling apart in a natural way to two people falling in love is a novel. And you know, just as they do, that that’s the end.

Furious Marriage Story focuses on the family, making no attempt to excuse their infidelity. Therapy doesn’t work. Neither does well-meaning intervention. Adam Driver and Scarlett Johansson were joined at the hip. They split their time between two houses, one well-appointed to be near friends and family, and a more modest place to be close to the studio. Joint custody means that the children have to learn to live with the results of their parents’ divorce. There is no easy fix. They are, as a relationship with the previous partner, just children, and any remedies are only a starting point for a student young enough to have broken hearts. What’s even more interesting is shown neither parent appears to have a new lover. That’s not the end. The film leaves you thinking—ishappily-ever-afteran illusion? Should we keep hoping for the sake of our children or for our own peace?

In the past, people often lived to a different metric of success. Age was less of a concern, so people were more comfortable making choices. There was no time limit on relationships and it was acceptable to live with someone as long as it suited them. Today, people are expected to settle down, have children, and then move on. But the film shows that even in the current climate, it’s possible to make choices that are right for you.

In the end, the film is a reminder that relationships are complex and require effort. There is no easy fix for the challenges that come with them. But by embracing the imperfections and learning to accept them, we can build stronger, more resilient relationships.

Domingo became the first player in history to score a century in a fourth Test match without losing his wicket and the visitors were left to rue chances that went begging as the off-breaker finished with 117 runs in three hours.

Domingo, who hit a century in the first innings against the tourists, was clean bowled by Kyle Jamieson to end his innings at 117.

Domingo, who had won the toss in the fourth Test, scored his 12th century in Tests and the third of his career. The previous two hundreds came against Zimbabwe and New Zealand.

"I think we will be able to take a firm and continue the first game. The team is doing really well," said the batsman, who has scored 752 runs in his last five Test innings.

Domingo, who had spent much of the first session at the crease, was dropped twice by Sabbir Rahman after reaching 50, but neither of the chances was taken.

Domingo, who was dropped on 51 by Shakib Al Hasan when he gloved a rank ball, reached 100 off 183 balls (sixx, eight 4s), with 131 runs coming off the bat in the second session.

The 35-year-old batsman became only the second batsman after West Indies great Brian Lara to score a century in all five Test matches in a series. The third Test ended in a draw.

The tourists, 92-3 at lunch, had been put into bat by England, who named a unchanged team.
