The Government sees a plot against India: the ED searches Nizamuddin and another at Nizamuddin

Not a single politician in India is immune from the ED searches. On Wednesday, the ED conducted searches across the country in the so-called "Nizamuddin case".

One of the main targets of the searches was Nizamuddin, who is accused of "abduction and under 18 years old, his family members were attacked by a group of men, beaten with sticks and stones before they were made to disappear".

Nizamuddin was not present during the searches and his family members were not present either.

The searches were conducted at multiple locations in Delhi, including Nizamuddin, and at his residence in Noida.

The ED has been conducting similar searches in other cases as well, including the alleged abduction of a minor in Varanasi last year.

The government has said that these searches are part of its ongoing crackdown on terrorism and organized crime.

However, some political parties have raised concerns about the nature and scope of these searches, with some alleging that they are being used as a political tool to suppress dissent.

Despite these concerns, the government has defended its actions, saying that it is committed to maintaining law and order and combatting terrorism.

The government has also said that it will continue to take strong action against anyone who is involved in such activities, regardless of their political affiliation.

Jesus Calms the Storm

One day Jesus said to his disciples, “Let us go over to the other side of the lake.” They got into a boat and headed out to the other side of the lake. In the middle of the night, Jesus was walking on the water and the disciples awoke to see him.

“Who is this?” they asked.

Jesus answered, “It is I. Don’t be afraid.”

They woke him up and cried, “Master, we’re going to drown!”

Jesus said, “Where is your faith?”

They answered, “If we had faith, we wouldn’t be afraid.”

Jesus rebuked the wind and said to the sea, “Peace, be still!”

The wind stopped and the disciples looked at each other with fear. They realized that the important things in life are our relationships with each other and that we are all connected to the whole world.

This Christmas let us celebrate the lessons we have learned this year. Let us celebrate our connection.

Sena wants Navi Mumbai international airport to be named after Bal Thackeray

Mumbai: The Maharashtra government has decided to rename the proposed international airport in Navi Mumbai after the late Bal Thackeray, Sena leader and former chief minister of Maharashtra.

The decision was taken at a meeting of the state cabinet on Monday. The airport, which is expected to be operational by 2024, will be named after Thackeray, who was a powerful leader in the state and a key figure in the Shiv Sena's rise to prominence.

The state cabinet had discussed the renaming proposal earlier this month and had decided to proceed with the change.

The airport is being built near Chembur in Mumbai's eastern suburbs and is expected to handle 40 million passengers annually.

The decision to rename the airport was announced by Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray on social media.

On home turf, Suvendu says BJP will win over 200 seats

Kolkata: On the eve of the West Bengal elections, Suvendu Adhikari, the BJP candidate from the Nandigram constituency, has made a bold claim, saying that the party will win over 200 seats in the state assembly.

Addressing a roadshow in Nandigram, a key constituency that is crucial for the BJP's prospects in the state, Adhikari said, “We are confident that the BJP will win over 200 seats in the upcoming West Bengal Assembly elections. Our goal is to make the TMC a minority in the assembly.”

The Nandigram constituency is known for its volatility and is considered a bellwether for the state's political sentiments. It has been a stronghold for the TMC in recent elections.

Adhikari's claim comes at a time when the BJP is on the offensive, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah visiting the state regularly to boost the party's morale.

Adhikari, who is a former TMC leader, defected to the BJP in 2019 and has been a key figure in its campaign in West Bengal.

Meanwhile, the ruling Trinamool Congress (TMC) led by Mamata Banerjee is also in full swing, with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee addressing rallies across the state.

As West Bengal is known for its polling fluctuations, both parties are pulling out all stops to ensure they emerge as the majority in the assembly.

Bengal Congress chief Adhir Chowdhury on Thursday said that his party will enter into an electoral alliance with the Left Front parties for the upcoming state elections.

The Congress has been in a minority in the state assembly since 2016 when it lost the elections to the TMC. The party is hoping to make a comeback in the next polls to oust the ruling party.

Chowdhury said that the Left Front would provide a platform for social and economic issues in the state. He added that the alliance would help in creating a strong regional party in Bengal.

Chowdhury also dismissed reports that the Congress is facing difficulties in forming an alliance with the Left Front. He said that the party is committed to the idea of a united front against the TMC.

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday delivered a virtual address on the 166th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Tagore, paying tribute to the poet who is known for his contributions to literature and music.

Modi, who arrived in Varanasi on Wednesday for the day-long centenary celebrations, has been invited to attend the event. However, the Prime Minister's appearance was postponed due to sudden developments in the ongoing national elections.

FARM LAWS AS PRESSURE MOUNTS, DUSHYANT OFFERS TO MEDITATE

In a meeting with senior journalists on Monday, Dushyant offered to mediate on the issue but his proposal was met with skepticism. The farmers' unions have already rejected the proposal, saying that only the government can resolve the ongoing crisis.

Dushyant's proposal comes after the Centre's proposal to set up a seven-member committee to resolve the standoff failed to gain any traction. The Centre, on the other hand, has been criticized for its handling of the crisis.

The farmers have been protesting against the three farm laws since November, demanding their repeal and the reinstatement of the Minimum Support Price system. The Centre, on the other hand, has been insisting on the need to attract investments to the agriculture sector.

The crisis has worsened in recent weeks, with clashes between farmers and police in several districts, leading to the death of a farmer in Haryana. The Centre has been accused of using force to disperse the protesters, while the farmers have accused the Centre of trying to force them to surrender.

With the Centre and the farmers at loggerheads, the crisis has drawn the attention of the international community, with several countries expressing concern over the violence.

In an interview with Express, Dushyant said: "I have not been part of the negotiations, but as a lawyer, I believe that mediation can be a way forward."

However, some farmers' unions have said that they are not interested in any form of mediation, with the Left Front and the Rashtriya Kisan Samman Party calling for a "total bandh" (strike) on December 25.

The Centre has been under increasing pressure to resolve the crisis, with several states calling for immediate action.

Government should abide by arbitration panel verdicts in Vodafone and Cairn case and end retroactive taxation

A leading right-wing think tank, the Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations (ICRIER), has called for the government to abide by arbitration panel verdicts in Vodafone and Cairn cases and to come to terms with the reality of its losses in tax litigation. The think tank said that it was “time to stop the retroactive taxation of foreign investment in India.”

ICRIER’s call for compliance with arbitration awards in Vodafone and Cairn cases comes at a time when the Modi government is embroiled in a legal battle with foreign investors over taxes. In the Vodafone case, the government is appealing a $3.3 billion arbitral award in favour of Vodafone conglomerate. In the Cairn case, the government is appealing a $1.8 billion arbitral award in favour of Cairn India.

The think tank argued that the government should end its practice of “tax harassment” and “tax avoidance” by foreign investors. The think tank said that “the government should respect the rule of law and the sanctity of arbitration awards.”

The think tank also urged the government to ensure that “the interests of foreign investors are protected and that the government does not act arbitrarily.”

In a separate statement, the think tank said that “the government should also ensure that the arbitration awards are not overturned and that the arbitration process is not undermined.”

A SMART 4.85-point fall in the stock market Monday, though the first drop in a series of short-term losses, continued to persist and at the same time due to the otherwise rising trend in the markets.

The markets have been soaring the highest of Covid-19, with the biggest impact to date in 2008 financial crisis and this pandemic in 2020. Both impacts of the market world wide if the impact of the global financial crisis was limited largely to the finance industry and the overall economy.

However, important to keep in mind that this virus was not the same. The markets have been hitting the panic button.

So what is the new variant? There is no panic need to assume. The World Health Organization (WHO) has said that the new variant is not as transmissible as others. The WHO has highlighted the fact that the variant is not as severe, it does not spread as quickly, and it does not cause as many symptoms.

How can we detect COVID-19?

The CDC has approved the use of COVID-19 testing, which is known as the polymerase chain reaction (PCR) test. It is a test that can detect the presence of the virus in a sample. The test is done by a lab technician and it takes about an hour to get results.

What is the impact of the new variant on the stock market?

The stock market is unlikely to be affected by the new variant, as it has already been priced in. The markets are expected to remain stable in the short term.
